

Table 2. Stories

The Norwegian fjord landscape - beautiful but dangerous The steep mountains and deep fjords of western Norway can be gorgeous. But in a brief moment beauty can turn into an inferno.
Preventing the disaster How can we prevent a catastrophe like Loen and Tafjord?
Jølster landslides 2019 Heavy and local rainfall triggered a lot of shallow debris flows in the Jølster region on 30 July 2019
Catching dams and safety structures Cases and research
Forest and avalanches Forest clear cuts changes the avalanche hazard zones for building areas in several places in Norway.
Rockfall and rock fragments Challenges in hazard zoning
Nature-based flood risk management River restoration, eco-friendly flood protection and ecological mitigation measures
The glacial past of Norwegian rivers And the implications for flood control management and aquatic life. Interpraevent 2021.
After a regional flood Lake flooding, urban rivers, flood estimation, meandering rivers and flood protection
Stavbrekka Glide Avalanche The Stavbrekka glide avalanche path gives every spring a challenge to the seasonal opening of the road between Geiranger and Breiddalen.